Part Two of “The Fort Bend County Office of Emergency Management: Past and Present” Now Available

Richmond, TX - Fort Bend County proudly announces the release of Part Two in the three-part video series, “The Fort Bend County Office of Emergency Management: Past and Present.”

Following the success of Part One, which explored the history and evolution of emergency management in Fort Bend County, Part Two focuses on what it took to build the County’s new, state-of-the-art Emergency Operations Center (EOC) — and the vision behind it.

This installment highlights the planning, collaboration, and foresight that went into creating a facility capable of supporting any disaster response. The video offers a behind-the-scenes look at the planning and dedication of county leadership and emergency personnel who made it possible.

“Our new Emergency Operations Center is more than a building, it’s a promise to our residents that Fort Bend County will always be ready to respond, recover, and protect,” said County Judge KP George. “This project represents years of planning and teamwork, and we’re proud to share that story.”

Viewers will hear directly from members of the Office of Emergency Management team, who discuss the challenges, partnerships, and innovative thinking required to transform the vision into reality.
